TRILBY BRAZEN WINS FUTURITY

Salt Lake Dog, Oquirrh's Colonel, Runner Up in National Championship Stake.

Trilby Brazen, daughter of Lord Brazen and Bessie Barrow, won the final round in the Mississippi Valley Futurity yesterday and returns to Denver with her owner, T. W. Bartels, as the champion puppy of the United States for the year 1907. At the finish of the race the crowd gathered around Bartels and congratulated him on the great running of his black puppy and the victory which the dog fully earned.

It was a sportsman-like crowd, who gave the winner full credit for her great run, but the sympathy of the crowd was with the other dog. He was Oquirrh's Colonel, the Salt Lake entry, owned by F. B. Jones of this city, and a dog which forced his way into favoritism by the races he has made since Monday last in an uphill contest. The Colonel has had practically no experience in the coursing game and relies for the Futurity with the title of runner up for the finale. The Salt Lake crowd has watched his great work since the first round, and in each succeeding race he showed he had the class to make the fight to the finish. When Colonel defeated Commercial Express, the crack Butte entry, in the fourth round yesterday, and drew the bye for the semi-finals, the crowd at once ran him up to even money in the pools for the championship.

Dervock Is Easily Beaten.

Jones selected Dervock, the crack Denver dog who was put out of the race in the early rounds on account of hard luck, to run against the Oquirrh's Colonel as a bye. Dervock was considered one of the strongest dogs in the race and as he had not run a course yesterday, Jones hoped to see him make a quick kill, thereby saving the time for the finale. It was considered by all as a wise selection, but instead the Colonel, tired from a previous race, beat Dervock in one of the hardest contests of the week. This race practically put the Salt Lake dog out of the finals, as Trilby Brazen owned an easy course over Sir Sweeney and was in much better shape for the final.

The local contingent hardly hoped for a victory as the two dogs left the slipper. The Denver dog got the best of it by a full length on the start, owing to the poor work of Colonel with the leash, although in justice to Brazen, she would have won anyway. On the run-up Brazen easily showed the best form and taking nearly every turn with the leash, she was in the lead by the time the race was turned. Down the field they went, Brazen easily showing the best form and taking nearly every turn with the leash, she was in the lead by the time the race was turned. Down the field they went, Brazen easily showing the best form and taking nearly every turn with the leash, she was in the lead by the time the race was turned.

Get Back at Butte Crowd.

The fact that the Butte contingent lost out in the big race was freely commented upon by the other dog owners from outside the city. The Butte crowd, however, running the Futurity and named their own officials. The wishes of the entire list of entries outside of Butte were ignored and when The Wolf was eliminated in the semi-finals and it was seen that Salt Lake and Denver were to fight it out in the finals, joy reigned around the various camps quartered at the fair grounds.

At the close of the Futurity seven match races were run off, which brought out a number of fast races. In these races, Blue, the Waterloo winner of last year, ran against Contender, one of the Futurity runners, and was beaten by a close score after a fast race. Another event which attracted attention was the one between Kelly's Malt and Dan Finnigan. The former is one of the best Kansas dogs and the latter comes from the crack kennels of G. Sharman at Colma. The results:

Fourth Round.

1. Trilby Brazen (T. W. Bartels, Denver), beat Sir Sweeney (Bennett Bros., Butte). Score, 5-3.

AIRSHIP RACE PROVES SUCCESS

Toledo Man Makes Fifty Miles an Hour and Controls His Machine.

St. Louis, Oct. 23.—Sailing to windward and return, over a course measuring one mile and a half, from the start to the finish, Lincoln Beachey of Toledo today won the dirigible balloon, or airship race, which marked the close of the St. Louis aeronautical carnival of 1907.

The prize was $2,000. In his Beachey airship, a cigar-shaped machine propelled by gasoline motor, the winner covered the distance in four minutes and forty seconds. Jack Dallas, in the Strobel airship, a sister craft to the Beachey, won second place, with a time record of six minutes and twenty seconds, while Captain Thomas S. Baldwin of New York, in the California Arrow, was third, with a time record of five minutes and thirty seconds. A fourth competitor, the Comet, entered by Charles Baydorfer of Omaha and sailed by Horace Wild, did not complete the first trial of the course, the motor breaking.

Start-at-Will Affair.
The race as finally arranged was a start-at-will affair, with each contestant having three trials. Beachey made the best time of the first round 7:35, and did not start again until the Arrow had made a record of 7:05 on its last attempt. Then the Beachey ship started on the best flight of the day. Heading his car directly into the wind and veering but the slightest bit to the right, the big craft sailed to the turning point, wheeled around in its own length and came whirling back before the breeze at a speed which must have approximated fifty miles an hour. The precision with which the ship was handled was marvelous and when the time came to turn the great crowd which had gathered to watch the contests broke into cheers, which were repeated when the airship was brought to the ground within a few feet of the grand stand.

Pass in Mid-Air.
In making his last flight, Beachey met Dallas returning in the Strobel. There was an exchange of greetings in mid-air and the spectacle of two flying machines passing at full speed with propellers whirling and motors chugging aroused the watching throngs to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

The California Arrow, which performed so splendidly in the trials of yesterday, did not behave so well today, and the owner and operator, Charles Baydorfer, in keeping his craft on its course, his motor seemed to lack power in the face of the pretty stiff wind that was blowing. And because of this, he abandoned the attempt to turn the goal on his second flight. Beachey and the Strobel airships both were more pointed at the nose than the Arrow.

The Israel Ludlow aeroplane was to have given an exhibition flight attached to an automobile, but was badly damaged by coming in contact with the inflated gas pipes that were used in the inflation of the balloons racing in the international cup races.

STANFORD, 31; NEVADA, 0.
Stanford University, Cal., Oct. 23.—In a one-sided but hard-fought game here today the Stanford rugby team defeated the University of Nevada by a score of 31 to 0. The visitors were routed in all stages of the game and only twice was Stanford's goal seriously threatened. The Cardinals showed greatly improved form and completely smothered the Nevada forwards. Fenton, the Stanford half, was the star of the game, making sixteen points out of thirty-one by his clever kicking, converting five tries and making two place kicks on penalties. For the visitors, Selby and Reider played a good game, but on account of the weakness of the Nevada scrum their backfield did not get an opportunity to show its strength.

EIGHTEENTH WARD WINS.
The Eighteenth ward basketball team beat the Twentieth ward team in a match game at the L. D. S. U. gymnasium last evening by a score of 13 to 8. The winners lined up: Taylor, I. F. Robbins, E. F. Smith and James, C.; Woolley, I. C.; Paul, R. G.

COURSING CLUB TO REORGANIZE

Better Class Secures Control and Will Try to Uplift the Sport.

A reorganization of the National Coursing club is now in progress. It is believed by those in touch with the sport that this reorganization will be of the greatest benefit to the game in the future. For some time it is claimed, a discordant element has to a greater or lesser degree gained control of the machinery of the club and for the past few years have practically driven the better element out of the game. Since the meeting started at Salt Lake, more than a week ago, there has been a constant friction between these two elements, and it has resulted in a conference at which it was decided completely to cleanse the National Coursing club of its objectionable features.

With this idea in view, the club is to be incorporated under the laws of Utah and articles, it is stated, will be filed today. The club will, by a majority vote, decide upon these changes and the new officers will probably take control and finish the present meeting.

In speaking of the matter last evening, Harry Kiefe of this city said: "We have held a meeting and decided that the National Coursing club could not continue its existence under the present conditions. Many of us who love the sport got together and decided to reorganize the club and put it under the control of the business men. In the future the game will be run as a sport, pure and simple, and the 'rough neck' element will be kept out. The National Coursing for purely money there is in it, will be a thing of the past. From now on it will be sport for sport's sake, and we hope in a few years to put it back where it was before the game degenerated into one of money making."

Judge Wickham has been mentioned as a candidate for the Republican nomination as delegate, and some of his friends have declared that his resignation from the judgeship was partially due to his intention to make this race.

No matter what action the coming Juneau convention may take, the election of Alaska will be based on the question of territorial government.

GERMANY FIRST; FRANCE SECOND

Then Comes Germany Again, With American Entries Fourth and Fifth.

St. Louis, Oct. 23.—Proclaimed as the most remarkable balloon contest in the history of the world's aeronautics, with every racing record broken, the second international cup competition, which started from here on Monday last, ended today with Germany accorded the winning laurels. The finish of the race was the most exciting of the following of the sport have ever known.

The victorious German balloon, the Pommer, which landed at Asbury Park this morning having by slightly more than five miles the advantage of the French contestant, Isle de France, second in the race, which descended during the afternoon at Herbersville, N. J., a few miles from the Atlantic coast and slightly northwest of Point Pleasant. Another German balloon, the Duesendorf, stands third in the race. American entries are fourth and fifth, a third German team in sixth, a French team seventh, an American eighth and the English ninth.

Record of the Fight.

The unofficial estimated air line flight of the Pommer is 880 miles and that of the Isle de France is 875. The Duesendorf, third, which landed near Dover, Del., is estimated to have covered 790 miles. The official measurements will be computed at the geological survey of the United States government at Washington. Only the proximity of the Atlantic ocean stopped the wonderful flight of the Pommer. The balloon could have remained in the air many hours longer, and undoubtedly would have added several hundred miles to her record but for the expense of water ahead.

Endurance of the French Team.

While losing the record and possession of the cup, the French team which sailed the Isle de France gained the honor of the record for duration. Starting from here at 4:30 p. m. central time, they landed today at 1:30 p. m. eastern time, making their time in the air just forty-four hours. The previous record had been forty-one hours and five minutes. The record for the international race set by the United States in the flight from Paris last year was 402 miles. This was more than doubled by the German and French balloons, Pommer and Isle de France. In fact, but only one of the nine contestants in this year's race failed to exceed the 1906 record.

Favorable Ballooning Ground.
The result of the race which ended today, the first of its character ever held in this country, has qualified the United States, in the opinion of all ballooning experts gathered here, as the most favorable aeronautical ground in the world. Every detail of the race was managed with consummate skill, and many regrets were expressed tonight that the race of the Pommer had not been fought out over the same territory. Germany has won possession of the silver trophy presented by James Gordon Bennett; the race next year, therefore, will be at the home of the German holders.

Final possession of the trophy rests with the club which wins it three times. The balloon United States, which finished eighth in this year's contest, was the winner in 1906, gaining a leg on the cup for the Aero club of America, the newest recruit in the aeronautical confederation of the world. Aside from possession of the cup, the Germans won a cash prize of $2,500, also offered by Mr. Bennett.

The World's Record.

Although the world's record for distance, known as 1,315 miles, is held by Count Henry de la Vaulx, there is some doubt as to whether this distance means a measured air line flight or the total number of miles traveled in drifting currents.

All of the balloons in this year's race traveled many more miles than the figure construction and absolute safety. Has the most improved burner. Made of brass throughout and nickel plated. Every lamp warranted. Write to nearest agency if not at your dealer's.

Records Compiled.

News of the landing of the Isle de France and the finish of the race was conveyed to the officials of the Aero club at their headquarters here tonight by the Associated Press. It was the first information they had received and the unofficial distance records were at once compiled.

While acknowledging that the Pommer had undoubtedly won, some of the officials were inclined to believe that official measurements from Washington would be necessary to finally determine the matter. The Aero club had some difficulty in receiving official communications from the contestants in the race, and was dependent almost entirely upon the press dispatches and the envelopes dropped by the balloons for the Associated Press.

Crippled "U" Team Working Hard to Play Against Big Odds.

A good, hard, determined practice, which Coach Maddock declares was one of the best this year was the first step of the university football team on learning that they would meet the Golden Miners next Saturday afternoon. Knowing that they are meeting one of the strongest elevens in the west in a crippled condition, the men are making an extra effort in practice and they say they will show the fans next Saturday the best team that has ever represented the big local school.

The players have made up their mind that they will give the Miners a hard fight, although the odds are against them and show them that they are not quitters. The team showed up well in practice yesterday. Palam, the husky guard who had tugged in his suit, was out in the Golden game in order to help Utah win. Bryant, who has not been able to get in with the regulars since the game with Denver because of a bad leg, was in his old position. Dan Hall was out in his suit also, but he had his hand in. Anderson was played fullback yesterday and showed up well.
